Description:

After much deliberation we have decided to release one of our fawn herdsires.

Finlo is an extremely strong upstanding male with big bone and perfect conformation. His fleece is very fine, dense with impressive uniformity both in micron and colour.

Son of the impressive Appledene Commander In Chief who is renowned for his longevity of quality, this genetic line will advance any breeding program.

We have a handful of his offspring all of which are high quality with colour ranging from dark brown to fawn & white. It is now time for him to move on and produce the goods for another breeder. I would describe him as the perfect finishing male, and his biggest strength is conformation and longevity of quality.

A real top quality male who should be considered by any serious breeder.
