Description:

Bozedown Fortune Teller is an excellent mother and rears her crias well. She was mated for the first time in 2022 and each year since and has take on first or second mating which shows excellent fertility. She is an upstanding female and produces a fleece that is soft although micron is higher, which is due to the uniformity of her micron and brightness within her fleece. In 2024 Fortune teller produced a lovely fine fleeced with boy by Bozedown Wrecking ball and since we loved the look of this little male she has been re-mated back to him and has produced another lovely white male cria.

Fortune Teller has not been remated this year due to numbers on farm but is being sold with mating for this year or next.
