Description:

Meet Rhyndaston Darling, a striking young weanling alpaca with a fabulous dark silver-grey fleece and an irresistibly sweet nature — the perfect blend of presence and potential. She has excellent grey genetics.

Darling’s fleece is beautifully soft and exhibits a rich, even colour with great density and character, showing excellent promise. She is growing out very well, with a strong, well-balanced frame, good bone structure, and a bright, alert temperament that makes her a joy to work with. Already halter trained and leading confidently, Darling is calm, willing, and full of personality.

Raised with care, she is healthy, well-socialised, and fully up-to-date with vaccinations.

With her grey colouring, strong conformation, and lovely temperament, Darling would be a fantastic addition to a breeding program or simply a friendly, eye-catching companion for your herd.
