Description:

The judge at the BAS National show said “you can see what he’s been put on this earth for” and I have to agree. Olek’s genetics and personal attributes have the ability to elevate the quality of a herd. His conformation is faultless, even down to his fleece covered true-to-type head, which is no doubt down to his Snowmass and Fowberry Nobility genetics. As you’d expect, his fleece has been consistently fine and uniform, with a beautiful handle. I particularly value the colour consistency of his fleece throughout the saddle and beyond. His first cria is due in June 2025, which I’m sure will underscore his desirability as a herd sire.
