Powwow Ada Peppercorn
Light Fawn (Solid Colour) - Huacaya

Description:

Ada Peppercorn is a beautiful, young, solid light fawn Huacaya female with a bright, soft-handled fleece, a strong frame, and balanced proportions, making her ideal for breeding potential. She is ready for her first mating, having not yet been bred for 2026 due to our change in herd direction. Her genetics combine Bozedown density and crimp with Angersleigh and EP Cambridge fineness and softness, strengthened further by the influence of Valley Alpacas The Diplomat, giving her outstanding breeding credentials. Ada has already proven herself in the show ring with placings including Reserve Champion and 2nd at the North Somerset Show 2024, 4th at the Cornwall Fleece Show 2025, and 4th at the Devon County Halter 2024. Beyond her pedigree and show success, Ada is wonderfully curious and has become the best "auntie cria sitter" on the farm, making her not only a valuable breeding prospect but also a delightful addition to any herd.
