Description:

Julius Crispus — affectionately known as “Curly” — is a standout, large-framed, dark fawn male weanling, named for his wonderfully curly, dense fleece that sets him apart in any field.

Curly has a calm, confident and inquisitive temperament, making him a pleasure to be around.

He is fully vaccinated, and his halter training is already in progress, giving him an excellent foundation for future handling.

Offered as a non-breeding male, he would suit discerning smallholders or lifestyle farms seeking a high-quality, eye-catching alpaca with both character and fleece appeal. Ideally he will be sold as part of a group or as a companion to a prospective stud male of similar age.

Member of the BAS trusted seller scheme. Full, ongoing support offered to new alpaca owners.
