Description:

News - Lillyfield Jack of Spades of Inca is now only available for selected drive by stud services.

Lillyfield Jack of Spades of Inca is a well grown male who exhibits a high capacity, volume and substance of bone. He matured early and his progeny have a robust birth weight and also reach maturity at a young age. His skin test reveals high density and good fleece length. His fleece displays great brightness and handle while being uniform in colour. The temperament of this male makes him easy to handle and this trait is readily seen in his progeny. With a pedigree that is heavily populated with Accoyo genetics this male produces progeny with a uniform phenotype. Jack of Spades has astonished us by producing solid black cria, including blue black, out of females with uniform, non uniform and unknown pedigree. He has produced black cria from fawn and brown dams as well.
