Bred from some of the most reliable and most prestigious bloodlines at Inca Alpaca, Inca Knightsbridge offers a stable and advanced genotype that is passed on to his progeny with consistency and vigour.

Conformationally this male is on trend with great substance of bone, fluid movement and balance. He is a deep bodied male with a wide and deep pelvis which is passed on to his progeny.

His fleece is very dense, long, uniform in micron and fine. With the high level of brightness the fibre displays, this fleece has a very soft to handle.
