Description:

Inca Redemption joins our stable of stud sires after he reached maturity and passed a number of stringent criteria to pass as a stud here at Inca. He is a very well grown male who is exceptionally balanced, well covered in fleece and has great substance and volume to his frame.

This male has been bred from our super reliable females Inca Jealousy who was the first black alpaca to win a Supreme Championship in the UK. His sire is the new deceased Inca Moonshine and he was a magnificent male who was just beginning to make his mark.

The fleece this male is growing is long, very bright, dense and uniform in both colour and micron. He has a deeply crimped fleece and this style runs will up into the neck and low down the legs.

With such a depth of high quality bloodlines from years and years of dedicated breeding, Inca Redemption offers breeders an alternative bloodline of high quality.
