Description:

NERO BLACK CHURCHILLIAN is a well grown well proportioned exceptional young male with a rich deep mahogany colouration. He exhibits excellent conformation on a strong well balanced frame. He is exhibiting a very uniform, very consistent fleece in colour and quality right out to his extremities with a very soft handle and a long staple length. He's a young mature male whose first offspring will be on the ground at Toft mid season 2026

As his name suggests CHURCHILLIAN was bred by NERO BLACK ALPACAS in the North East of England who sadly have now retired from alpaca breeding. We bought him in 2024 as an intermediate shortly after he had won Champion Brown and Judges Choice at the Stokesley Halter Show having previously taken Reserve Champion Brown at the Westmorland County Show earlier in the year.

We first set eyes on CHURCHILLIAN as an intermediate in December 2024 and immediately recognised his potential. We both felt that if this young male grew to fulfill the potential that was evident in him as an intermediate then he would prove a very valuable addition to our selective breeding here at TOFT Alpacas. We took the plunge and brought him to Toft and are happy to say that he has matured into a very strong framed, consistent, fine, dense male, with impressive staple length, who is exhibiting exceptional uniformity in quality and colour right out to his extremities. He also has beautiful 'fluffy' ears which although totally irrelevant in terms of breeding for fleece will make his offspring very cute and pleasing to look at.

NERO BLACK CHURCHILLIAN has a wealth of coloured australian genetics on both sides of his pedigree, on his father side going all the way way back to the Legendary Celtic Triumph and we feel that his will complement our 30 years of alpaca breeding here at Toft adn make a very valuable input to our breeding. Watch this space!!

NERO BLACK CHURCHILLIAN has performed with purpose through 2025 and we expect his first cria on the ground here at Toft Alpacas mid season 2026. He is an impressive proven young male with real genetic potential worth serious consideration.
